

CLAIM AMENDMENTS

1. (Currently Amended) A dispenser for a roll of flexible stretchable film to be used as a hand covering, the roll of film defining a central axis, and having first and second surfaces, with the first surface including an applied adhesive, the dispenser comprising:

a housing to receive the roll of film;

an edge operative to separate the film drawn off the roll into individual sheets for use; and

a base member between the roll and the edge over which the film is drawn, with the first surface facing outwardly, and wherein the base member defines an area of at least 40 square inches and a hand-shaped depression to permit placement of the palmar surface of an average adult human hand thereagainst to be covered by the flexible, stretchable film.

2. - 17. (Canceled)

18. (New) A dispenser for a roll of flexible stretchable film to be used as a hand covering, the roll of film defining a central axis, and having first and second surfaces, with the first surface including an applied adhesive, the dispenser comprising:

a housing to receive the roll of film;

an edge operative to separate the film drawn off the roll into individual sheets for use; and

a base member between the roll and the edge over which the film is drawn, with the first surface facing outwardly, and wherein:

the base member defines an area of at least 40 square inches to permit placement of the palmar surface of an average adult human hand thereagainst to be covered by the flexible, stretchable film, and the flexible film is at least partially transparent and the base member includes hand-positioning visual indicia which a user can visualize through the film.